Getting started

You want to find peer-reviewed research articles on the topic of trauma-informed practices in schools. Prepare to search by generating keywords and breaking down your topic into the concepts you want in the search results.

For example:

Concept 1: trauma-informed is a type of practice.

Concept 2: teaching or learning or classrooms are places to apply trauma-informed practices.

A note about the power of and, or in searches:

Use and between your concepts to narrow search results to items with both concepts.

Use or between keywords to broaden the search to include related keywords for a single concept.

Tip 1 Searching

Enter keywords from your research topic. If your initial keywords do not return relevant results, try using related keywords.

Because newspapers are published frequently, try changing the search field from the default setting to Lead/First Paragraph to get more relevant results.

Tip 2 Limiting results

Sometimes narrowing search results is necessary to meet the needs of an assignment.

A key power of this database is the ability to target your searches for news and newspapers based on geographic location. Before submitting your keywords, you can refine your search location by using the interactive map below the initial search form.
